

To deny the soul a voice to speak of the hardship
It endures in the efforts to ignite a fiery spark of Inspiration, to stir the mind from oblivious sleep
To act upon the impulse to call forth dormant
Powers seeking expression within the physical
Realm, to this end spirit is called to act: though
The mind may resist the soul's intention to Rouse it from a state of rest, ignorance proving
An arduous challenge to overcome: as without a sense
Of conviction, the mind does not seek to overcome
The hardships that plague the waking hours:
Unless the mind openly seeks to expand awareness
Thoughts stagnate as a consequence of inaction
Extinguishing spirit's efforts to liberate consciousness.